VIRGINIA SOLDIERS LAND

Many Returning Troops Sustain Fractures in Battle With Angry Seas.

Newport News, Va., March 1.—Virginia warriors who distinguished themselves in the Argonne and Chateau-Thierry, and were among the first to walk into the St. Mihiel Valley when the boche was beaten back, arrived here on the battleships Virginia nad Rhode Island, which docked yesterday morning. The ships were sixteen days from Brest, four days overdue. Battered about by storm that injured many men by blowing them against the fixtures of the ship, several soldiers had their legs fractured and the bones shattered to pulp in what they declared was the most horrible experience of the war.

Among Virginia troops on board the Rhode Island was Sergeant William C. Wolff, Alexandria.

JURY PROBES DEATH

Hold That Saul Reynolds, Colored, Driver of Auto Truck That Struck and Killed W. O. Tomlin Was "Inexperienced."—9 Witnesses Heard.

A coroner's jury which met at 9 o'clock this morning at Wheatley's mortuary chapel to investigate the circumstances attending the death of William O. Tomlin, which occurred yesterday afternoon at the Alexandria Hospital, gave a verdict to the effect that his death "resulted from injuries sustained by being struck by an automobile driven by Saul Reynolds, colored, and added "In the opinion of the jury the said Saul Reynolds is an inexperienced driver."

The jury was composed of the following: G. E. Pickett, foreman; W. D. Burkett, A. D Deeton J. M. Duling, James Foster and L. E. Remington.

Reynolds, who is sixteen years old, testified that when he attempted to turn eastward from Pitt street to King street his wheel would not work and he was unable to reverse the machine when it climbed on the sidewalk striking Mr. Tomlin. Witness declared his machine was going about seven miles an hour.

Isaac C. Groves testified that just as the machine came on the sidewalk he pulled Joseph C. Gates, standing directly in its path out of the way, and in doing so escaped injury. Mr. Tomlin he said was backed by the machine through the plate glass window of Downham and Ridgely.

Joseph C. Gates testified he was standing in the street, just off the curb, and had his back turned at the time and that Groves pulled him to safety.

The testimony of Douglas Lunsford was that he had just arrived on the corner and was struck and sustained slight injury to his knees.

A. T. Fletcher said he thought the driver turned too short and after starting to turn he thought he lost control. Witness said he helped to pull the machine off Mr. Tomlin with the assistance of the driver.

A. E. Parks thought the machine was going at about ten miles an hour.

Hugo Herfurth, jr., owner of the auto truck, said he had just employed the lad, although the boy told him of other persons for whom he had driven cars.

Edward Knight, of Washington, said he cried to the other men standing nearby to lookout. There were four men standing together on the corner at the time he said.

Policeman Kerns said he and Sergt. Wilkinson arrested the boy and found him hiding beneath his parents home.

The body of Mr. Tomlin was taken to his late residence 308 South Fairfax street and his funeral will take place at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Services will be conducted by Rev. E. B. Jackson, pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Besides his wife he is survived by the following children: Mrs. Grace Dobie, Mrs. Ferdinand Knight, Miss Ocie Tomlin, J. Robert Tomlin, and Charles Elmer Tomlin, the last named now overseas .

LONG-FELT WANT

Enterprising Alexandrians Take Steps Looking to the Accommodation of People in Eastern Section.

Messrs. W. C. Baggett and A. J. Butcher have opened a modern grocery and provision store in the building on the southeast corner of Royal street and Market alley, where everything in their line can be furnished as cheap as the cheapest. There are at present several similar stores in Alexandria, but they are mostly situated far to the westward of people residing south of Pitt street, and it is to accommodate this class especially that Messrs. Baggett and Butcher have opened an establishment in the eastern section of the city. Everything needed is handled by this firm. The members are well known Alexandrians, who have long been in business, and they have ever enjoyed the confidence of the entire community.

CHAMPAGNE $25 A GLASS

New York, March 1.—Twenty-five dollars a glass—which is merely at the rate of $100 a quart—will be the price of imported champagne after June 30 if there happens to be any left then, according to an announcement of local dealers.

RAID AT DANVILLE

Forty Persons Arrested in Moral Clean up Campaign by Officers

Forty men, women, boys and girls were arrested in Danville this week on charges of violating the laws against immorality according to a federal officer engaged in the State wide anti-vice campaign, which is being waged by the state health department and the government. The arrests followed twenty-seven others Sunday night. The federal officers gave no intimation beforehand in Danville of their visit, but swooped down, catching scores unawares.

Most of the persons arrested have been detained in jail until they are made to submit to a medical examination to ascertain if they have infections diseases. Several days ago a warning was issued by the state board of health against bell boys soliciting men and women for immoral purposes. Among those gathered into the arms of the law in Danville are two bell boys. It is announced that a special prosecutor will be sent to Danville by the government to assist the commonwealth attorney there.

Much excitement was caused by the sudden raid. It is said that many of the women who were arrested were total strangers in the city and a few are said to have come from Richmond. The federal officers said that they will swoop down before the week is ended on many other cities in the state and make wholesale arrests if the laws are being violated.

U-BOATS COMING

America's Share of Underwater Craft to Arrive in About a Month

A flotilla of German submarines is coming across the Atlantic under American officers. Raiders that once struck terror to shipping off our coast will return captives.

This news became public yesterday with the assignment of nine officers of the navy to "duty with German submarines." It developed that a flotilla of five Germar submarines the first of several such, is to be brought to the United States from British ports where the U-boats are interned. They will be brought to New London, The American submarine base, and the port into which the merchant U-boat Deutschland once made harbor.

The U-boats are to be brought across the Atlantic under their own power. A naval vessel will accompany them as mother ship.

BIG SHOW FOR MONDAY

In addition to its other qualities extraordinary unusual night photography is one of the features offered in the new Douglas Fairbanks-Artcraft picture coming to the Grand Theatre next Monday. With the aid of flare lights and a special photographic device, Cameraman Victor Fleming filmed a scene of the popular actor reluxing on the ground looking up at the stars one evening, which effect has caused considerable comment around film producing centres. The Fairbanks photographer is hardly more than a boy and his exceptional work has often caused wide comment. Youth is quite characteristic of the Fairbanks organization Anita Loos, the clever scenario writer, is in her twenty-first year. Cameraman Fletming and his staff including Harvey Thorpe, Glen MacWilliams and Charles Warrington are all under the voting age and various other important members of the business organizations are scarcely out of their "teens." The popular actor on every occasion encourages the development of youth, enforcing the necessary discipline in a manner entirely his own.

Also the Iron Test.

Ingomar—Mary Miles Minter

Now comes Mary Miles Minter in "The Amazing Imposter," a story bristling with romance, adventure and all that goes to make for an enjoyable hour's entertainment on the screen of the Ingomar Theatre tonight.

The mere mention of the fact that the "Flying A," star will be shown in a new comedy drama, is sufficient notification to "movie" followers to prepare to be present.

IN MEMORIAM

HENDERSON—In sad but loving remembrance of my dear mother, MARY VIRGINIA HENDERSON, who departed this life nine years ago today, March 1, 1910.

Nine years have passed since that sad day
When the one I loved, was called away,
God took her home, it was his will,
But in my heart, she liveth still.

Often my thoughts go wandering,
To the grave so far away,
Where lie the sweetest memories
That will never fade away.

COMPENSATION ACT

Law Not Generally Understood by Those Interested

As is stated elsewhere for the death of Special Agent W. E. Payne, who was killed while attempting to arrest a negro for violation of the prohibition laws at Alexandria several days ago, the Prohibition Department must pay the estate of the deceased $3,000 according to a ruling just made by the State Industrial Commission under the workmen's compensation act.

This was the first award made by the commission for injury to a public employee. The loss is covered by liability insurance taken out by the department just before the law became effective. Two other such cases are now before the commission One is for the death of a fireman at Norfolk and the other for the death of Policeman Walker Campbell at Alexandria.

For the information of employers and employees of this State, many of whom are not yet familiar with the provisions of the new workmen's compensation act, the Industrial Commission lowing brief summary of the conditions of the act:

1—In case of accident to employees arising out of and in the course of employment, the employer must furnish, and the employee should accept all necessary medical and hospital treatment and supplies for a period of thirty days following the date of the accident.

2—If the accident produces disability lasting seven days or longer the employer must immediately notify the Industrial Commission. All accidents causing disability of more than one day must also be recorded and reported to the commission at the end of each quarter, namely, March, June September and December. In case of refusal or neglect to report accidents to the commission, the act provides a fine of $25 for each such refusal or neglect.

3—Compensation must be paid for death or for the period of disability beginning with the fifteenth day following the accident. Employer and employee may make agreement as to compensation, but such agreements must be in accordance with the law as to amount and time and manner of payment, and must be forwarded to the Industrial Commission for its approval.

4—If employer and employee are unable to agree as to compensation, the employee should file with the Industrial Commission a claim for compensation. The commission will then set a date for a hearing and dispose of the case as the facts may warrant.

5—Every employer within the operation of the act must, on or before January 30, 1919, provide for insurance of his compensation liability and notice to this effect must be filed with the Industrial Commission. Refusal or neglect to comply with this provision is punishable by fine for each day of such refusal or neglect.

SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR

The Entertainment Given Last Night at Young People's Building Largely Attended—Varied Program Given —Soldiers Among Participants.

The Young Peoples' Building of the M. E. Church, South, was filled to capacity and many standing last evening during the entertainment given under the auspices of the Henry Knox Field Bible Class. The program was of a varied character and all of the numbers were good throughout. Frank Steele opened with a fine recitation of the story "Bells of New Years Eve" and responded to an encore with "The Ringing of the City Church Bells." Edgar Lyons, retired Sergeant of Engineers, heralded as "The Old War Horse" gave many pleasing and funny monologues. Miss Camille Little and C. W. Donaldson furnished the spice of the entertainment in several songs and a very little dancing, a vaudeville turn, yet pleasing and permissible, to those of a generous turn of mind, Then came private Paul Grigsby, or "Haba Haba," the Fire King, and he proved that the high cost of living could be greatly reduced by actually putting balls of fire into his mouth and seemingly devouring burning sealing wax and flaming wax tapers by the handful. M. L. Dinwiddie here contributed a solo always enjoyed and ever welcome on any program. A real ventriloquist always proves a headliner on local bills and Rolfe was no exception to the rule. Private Harold Gerdes came next and proved himself very clever in mystifying tricks of magic of "Now you see it and now you don't" making cards, handkerchiefs, balls, etc, disappear right before your eyes. The program concluded with a musical specialty by the Miss Boardman's one possessing a beautiful lyric soprano voice and the other an exceptional mastery of the violin. Quite a number of men from the camps attended and enjoyed the entertainment. The talent was secured for the most part through the War Camp Community Service and it is to be hoped that more of these enjoyable evenings will be arranged to consist of a nature of wholesomeness and entertainment.

WIDOW TO GET $3,000

State Will Pay Money to Woman Whose Husband was Murdered by Bootlegger.

Under the provisions of the workmen's compensation act, as it is popularly known the family of the late W. E. Payne, the prohibition officer murdered by a negro bootlegger near Alexandria county a few nights ago, the state will have to pay the maximum allowed, $3,000. This became known when the matter was discussed by officers who were familiar with the provisions of the law.

This is believed to be the first case to come up in which the state is interested, though there have been several in the cities. One of the latest of these is believed to have been the death of a fireman in Norfolk, that city coming under the terms of the law.

TAFT'S FORECAST

Says America, as in Last Catastrophe Must Inevitably be Drawn in Atlanta, March 1—Former President Taft, before the Southern Congress of the League of Nations here yesterday, warned that another war is inevitable unless the nations of the world engage in a common covenant to maintain peace.

"We shall go through the same sad course of events which the history of this war records," said Taft, "in which we shall attempt to be a neutral and then be inevitably drawn in. The next war will be as much more horrible in its destructiveness as this one was more horrible than any preceding war.

"It is a mistake to suppose the destructive character of one war will prevent another. The resiliency of peoples and their forgetfulness of horrors are instinctive in human nature. In the next general war the United States will not escape with such moderate losses as in this war.

"Fathers and mothers and wives should bear in mind the agonies of spirit, the suffering and sacrifices which another war will entail upon them and the flower of their youth.

"Only a reasnable burden and the taking of reasonable precautions by now entering into this covenant and this league of nations will save the world and us from the utterly uncompensated trials and sacrifices and agonies of war."

Big Celebration Is Being Planned for This City in September

Baltimore, March 1—Plans are being made for the celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of the founding of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, which will be held in this city, the home of the order, the third were in Sptember. At that time the Sovereign Grand Lodge, the Patriarchs Militant and the Associated Rebekah Assemblies, divisions of the order, will hold sessions here, bringing delegates and visitors to the number of 25,000 it is estimated.

Preparations are in the hands of a State committee selected from the membership of the Grand Lodge of Maryland, in co-operation with a similar committee acting for the Sovereign Grand Lodge, which is the national body.

The actual date of the founding of the order was April 26, 1819, when Washington Lodge, No. 1, was inaugurated by Thomas Wildey. John Welch, John Duncan, John Cheatham and Richard Rushmore. This date will be observed by the Washington Lodge independently of the large celebration. The features of the day will be the unveiling of two tablets, one on the site of the old Seven Stars Tavern on Second street (now Water street) near Market Space, where the five original members of the order organized the other at Front and Gay streets, the site of Thomas Wildey's home. The Seven Stars Tavern was destroyed in the Baltimore fire.

ANOTHER FATALITY

The killing of William O. Tomlin, one of our old and respected citizens, at the southeast corner of King and Pitt streets yesterday afternoon, shows how quickly lives can be snuffed out in this day of automobiles. During the past few years several similar fatal accidents have occurred in this city, in each of which the authorities have allowed such horrors to pass as unavoidable accidents.

It is high time, however, that measures were enacted to hold parties who are directly or indirectly responsible for such mishaps. In the case yesterday afternoon, after listening carefully to all the testimony, it seemed hard to ignore the impression that it was a case of criminal negligence, to say the least. It was shown that the colored youth (sixteen years old) was not equal to the occasion—that he is not competent to operate an automobile and the coroner's jury decided that he is inexperienced. Besides he had no license, nor have many other children who daily rush autos through the streets.

There was but one case before the Police Court this morning, that of a 17 year old negro who was operating the same auto on Wednesday when it suddenly shot on the sidewalk at the southeast corner of Wolfe and Fairfax streets. A two year old child who was on the sidewalk at the time barely escaped being killed. The darkey was fined $10.

DEATH OF A FORMER RESIDENT.

Henry Blondheim died in Washington yesterday, aged eighty-seven years.

Over sixty years ago the deceased conducted a clothing house at the northwest corner of King and Fairfax streets. More than half a century ago he relinquished the business, transferring it to Simon Blondheim, now one of our oldest citizens, and the oldest of our Israelitish citizens.

The subject of this notice came to Alexandria when entering manhood and at a time when but a corporal's guard of people of Hebrew birth lived here. Simon Waterman, Isaac Eichberg, Simpson Dreifus Peter Seldner, Louis Stein, Isaac Schwarz, Henry Schwarz, and a few others comprised our Israelitish residents in ante bellum days. These have long been gathered to the fathers and been succeeded by hundreds of the descendants of Abraham, coming from all points of the compass. Most of the newcomers have arrived since the Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation located its plant here.

INCITEMENT TO CRIME

Under the heading "It Won't Work," the New York Tribune prints ar editorial which is nothing less than an incitement to assassination. After charging mendaciously that President Wilson is attempting to force his will upon a reluctant Congress the article continues:

"The experiment of the President in seeking to rule without parliament is doubtless well meant but will not succeed in a noisy and vocable democracy. If Charles I could not make the plan work; if Louis XVI could not make it work when he drove the National Assembly to meet in the Tennis Court; if the Czar could not make it work in Russia when he attempted to dissolve the Duma just before the revolution, it cannot be made to work in America."

There is only one inference to be drawn from this language as is said by an exchange. The three rulers mentioned were put to death because they had fallen under the displeasure of uprisings of the people. If Woodrow Wilson persists in his present course, the natural conclusion is let him beware!

"It was just such outrageous stuff as this that led the weak-minded Czolgosz to take the life of McKinley. His feeble brain became unhinged in reading savage attacks upon that President, and he took vengeance into his own hands. The New York Tribune is well aware of these facts, for only a few days ago, in commenting upon the attempt of a French anarchist to kill Premier Clemenceau, it pointed out the warning to be drawn from such an occurrence."

"AND THE EARTH WAS FILLED WITH VIOLENCE."

The words of the book of Genesis describing conditions before the deluge, are used in the caption of this article. The number of assassinations and murders, which are multiplying all the time, is attracting the attention of newspapers and sober-sided people generally. Human life is becoming cheaper day by day, and many thoughtful persons are becoming anxious concerning the wave of crime which is now common in every land.

Two officers of the law were murdered in Alexandria city and county in less than a week.

A New York paper prints a list of thirteen murders in New York city during January and February up to the 25th instant. It classifies these as "murder mysteries"—some of those "which attracted the greatest attention and presented the most difficulties in solving." It adds that many other capital crimes have been committed during the past two months in which the guilty persons were apprehended at once. In the year 1918 there were 215 murders in New York city.

A contemporary in commenting upon these startling facts, exclaims "what an appalling record! It indicates the fact that human life is very cheap in the great city. It would be interesting to know whether any of this slaughter is due to failure by the courts to administer justice. Undoubtedly the police have failed to discover and arrest the murderers. Another question is does the death penalty deter murder more effectually than imprisonment. It will be recalled that the assassination of the Empress of Austria took place in Italy, where the death penalty is not inflicted, and the attempt on the life of Mr. Roosevelt was made in a State where the death penalty had been abolished. There was reason to believe that in both these cases the assailants selected the place of attack because they knew they would not be risking their lives there.

"Undoubtedly punishment swiftly following the offense is more efficient in deterring crime and impressing the public than punishment which is so long delayed that public interest has cooled. One of the arguments that have been advanced by those opposed to the death penalty is that so many juries are reluctant to condemn a man to death, that many guilty ones escape who would be convicted if imprisonment were the only penalty. Whatever the cause may be, it is a well established fact that too many murderers go unwhipped of justice, and this may be one great cause of the riot of murder throughout the land."

"SHALL WOMEN VOTE?"

The headline is the title of an intersting book of 345 pages written by Conway Whittle Sams, a lawyer of Norfolk, a copy of which has been sent to this office. The author says his publication is not for women, but men.

We have not had the time to study the writer's argument closely, but from a cursory examination we find the book interesting and one which should be read carefully at this time when many members of the feminine gender are demanding what they are convinced is their natural right to vote and have their say in the government of the world. Many of their arguments are logical and difficult to controvert, but Mr. Sam's book shows we should heed the old Roman maxim, audi altram partem, or hear the other side.

The writer is opposed to woman suffrage, and, from his standpoint, he would have it appear that women were never intended to participate in legislation, but should be as Cornelia, Lucretia and others of old.

GENERAL COMPLAINT

Dissatisfaction was monarch of all he surveyed when the country people who visit our market to dispose of their produce arrived this morning. The roof of the market is in a horrible condition and great puddles of water were everywhere in evidence. It is understood that permission was requested for the use of the empty benches on the inside but either has been refused or "pigeon holed". We all know that many familiar faces are missing now on market days, and just such condition of affairs is the cause. The interior of the market, decorated with fresh vegetables and other products of the farm, certainly would be more gladdening to the eyes of the buyers than empty barrels and boxes scattered broadcast. Isn't there some "live wire" in Council who will take up the matter.

JOHN SNOWDEN HANGED

Negro Convicted of the Murder of Mrs. Lottie May Brandon Declares His Innocence.

Annapolis, March 1.—John Snowden, the negro convicted of the murder of Mrs. Lottie May Brandon here in August, 1917, was hanged yesterday morning in Annapolis jail.

He went to his death with a smile, protesting that he was innocent. "I'm as innocent as a new born babe," he told the jail guards before he was led from the death cell.

Snowden was called from the death cell at 6:45 o'clock yesterday morning. He walked down the steps and on the scaffold singing, "I'm a Child of the King." The "Singing Band," five colored men and two colored women, who stayed with him until midnight and then returned to the jail again at 5 oclock, walked behind him. They were the only witnesses of the execution, except officials, county and military police, and newspaper men.

At 6:55 o'clock the cap was placed over Snowden's head.

Twenty-six minutes later the body of Snowden was taken down, after Dr. J. J. Murphy, county health officer, declared that "Snowden came to his death by strangulation."

MOVIES HIT SALOONS

Minister Says They Are The Worst Enemies of the Liquor Dispensaries

Sayville, L. I., Feb. 28—The place of the saloon in the life of American cities, according to the Rev. J. A. Langdale, of New York Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church Brooklyn, will be taken in large part by the moving picture theatre, the soda fountain and the tea room.

"Twenty per cent. of the saloons of the United States," the Brooklyn pastor told his colleagues of the Atlantic Group Methodist Ministers' Association, "have already been put out of business by the movies."

He made it clear that there will be no attempt to revive the "church saloon" put into operation 20 years ago by Bishop Potter and which proved a failure.

"The substitute for the present day saloon," he said, "must be equally attractive, if not quite so gilded. Entertainment must be provided. Money will be needed. Men are going to miss these warm and well-lighted saloons, open all the time, while most of the churches are closed six days in the week, and they will be looking for companionship and good cheer.

"In my own opinion, the greatest foe to the saloon is the moving picture. Men who formerly drank and spent their idle hours in the barroom are today regular patrons of the picture show. They wanted life, action, more than they wanted drink.

"Recreation rooms and tea rooms have been mentioned as other possible substitutes. In many places they will be provided. It is an illuminating fact that the manufacturers of soda fountains and machinery for manufacturing soft drinks have more orders on hand at this moment than they have had at any previous time in 10 years. In the beginning, then the moving picture, the tea room and the soda counter will help to take the place of the barroom."

TEACHERS EXEMPT

New Tax Law Does Not Apply to Them and to Other Public Employees.

Washington, Feb. 28.—Thousands of public school teachers are exempt from income taxes on their salaries as teachers, according to an explanation by the Internal Revenue Bureau in clarification of its recent announcement that salaries of all officers and employees of State, county, city or other municipal or local governments are not taxable.

It was explained this applies to teachers providing they receive pay from a public source, and not from a private school. It also applies to policemen, firemen and other public employees.

The exemption was made in the revenue tax law, but doubt over the precise meaning prompted the interpretation from the Revenue Bureau.

My doctor told me to use Cardui. I took one bottle, which helped me and after my baby came, I was stronger and better, but the pain was still

I at first let it go, but began to get weak and in a run-down condition, so I decided to try som more Cardui, which I did.

ALEXANDRIA MAN'S LUCKY FIND.

Will Interest Readers of the Gazette.

Those having the misfortune to suffer from backache, urinary disorder, gravel, dropsical swelling, rheumatic pains, or other kidney and bladder disorders, will read with gratification this encouraging statement by an Alexandria man.

Walter C. Dameron, railroad brakeman, 325 N. Columbus St., says: "My back often hurt so badly I had to lay off work. After I got down I couldn't straighten up again without sharp pains catching me across my kidneys. My back ached constantly and my kidneys acted too frequently during the night, so I had to get up every little while. When morning came I felt so tired and weak I could hardly drag myself out of bed. I tried different medicines, but felt no better until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Henry Callan's Drug Store. I took about six boxes in all an dsince then I have had but little trouble from my kidneys and I have felt like a different person."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Dameron had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgrs., Buffalo, N. Y.
